GANDHI DEMANDS CONTROL OF BRITISH TROOPS IN INDIA
FORCES MUST COME UNDER INDIAN CONTROL OR BE DISBANDED, HE DECREES
London, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Mahatma Gandhi demanded before the federal structure committee of the Indian round table conference today that the British army in India be disbanded or placed under Indian control.
He said he hoped to infect the British with the necessary love for India to enable India to stand alone.
If necessary, he said, the Indian national congress would wander in the wilderness for a century, "through terrible and fiery ordeal, through storm, distress, and misrepresentation, and if necessary and if God wills, through a shower of bullets."
Lord Sankey, chairman of the committee, said he did not think it would be in the interests of India to comply with the immediate request to withdraw the army. He emphasized he did not mean withdrawal necessarily, but transfer of India's defense to Indian control.
The Mahatma admitted that perhaps he was speaking foolishly. "You should understand that the Indian congress has thousands and ten of thousands of foolish men and foolish women, like me," Gandhi said with a grin.

Dying Woman Hurls Hush Money Charge at Police

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 17.—(UP)—A dying woman's statement that Minneapolis police accepted money, drinks and gifts of turkeys, chickens and geese for protection today opened wholesale investigations of alleged police corruption.
The statement was made by Mrs. Ben Wilson, wife of a convicted bootlegger, to Judge Lester Youngdahl of the municipal court.
"The police investigation threatens to become ten times as sensational as the recent aldermanic graft disclosures," Youngdahl said. "Mrs. Wilson is seriously ill. She hasn't much longer to live and wants to tell what she knows."
Mrs. Wilson's statement on 19 typewritten pages told of operating a still and "blind pig" for eight or nine years. Five policemen were named as recipients of money and six others were accused of taking drinks and gifts. Amounts ranging from $5 to $15 a week were paid, she said. A lieutenant and two sergeants were implicated in her charges, Youngdahl said.
Other developments in the investigation included the summoning by Mayor William A. Anderson of all police captains. The officers were asked to "explain why so little evidence was uncovered in raids made on complaints by citizens."
Subpoenas were issued by the county attorney's office for Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and their son Frank. Chief of Police William A. Meehan meanwhile asked County Attorney Ed J. Goff to investigate threats that had been made against the lives of policemen who arrested bootleggers.

SENATOR'S WIDOW GETS SEAT
The reduction in city taxes was first announced through the Daily Dispatch Armistice Day following a conference between the City Water and Light Department and the finance committee of the council headed by Alderman V. F. Anderson. The cooperative measure expressed by the utilities board at that meeting virtually meant a gift to the city of approximately $10,000 to which the city taxpayers at large will join in repeating the benefits.
The 1931 city tax levy, payable in 1932, as revised from the original levy adopted by the council on October 5 which was rescinded last night in favor of the new and lower levy establishes the levy at 21.75 mills or its equivalent of $66,905.33 raised by taxation upon the taxable property of the city in the ensuing year.
The civic spirit of the Water and Light Board in its consideration to taxpayers causes two reductions in the levy of funds without decreasing the amount of money in these funds.
Remittance to Two Funds
Since the charter requires that three mills must be levied in the hydrant rental and electric fund, this levy will remain but its equivalent will be refunded to the city. Of this amount 1 1/2 mills will be applied to the general fund which makes possible on paper the striking of any levy to this fund. An additional one mill will be refunded for the purpose of street and sewer work, lowering the original levy in this fund of 2 mills to one mill.
The original budget adopted on Oct. 5 fixed the levy at 24.25 mills or approximately $71,595.60 to be raised by taxation.
Division of Tax Budget
By the new budget the existing levy follows, its adoption passed unanimously on motion of Aldermen V. F. Anderson and W. J. Hall:

GRANDI EXPLAINS ARMS HOLIDAY AS GOOD WILL MOVE

ITALIAN FOREIGN MINISTER TO CONFER WITH HOOVER AT 4 P. M.

BULLETIN:
Washington, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Dino Grandi, Italian minister of foreign affairs, will not see President Hoover until tomorrow.
The White House said this afternoon that "through a little mix-up" the announcement was made that he would visit Mr. Hoover this afternoon. The appointment conflicted with a reception by the overseas writers. Grandi will attend the reception and will not go to the White House until tomorrow.
Washington, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Foreign Minister Dino Grandi of Italy told the American press today that his country considered disarmament as the most important question before the world. He agreed that Italy was working for an agreement with France on their naval dispute.
Asked for Italy's view on revision of war debts and reparations the youthful fascist minister said he would only call attention to the statement of his chief of state, Premier Mussolini, in 1922. Mussolini then said that war debts and reparations were interdependent and must be scaled down.
President Hoover announced today that he would discuss world problems with Grandi at 4 p. m. White House conference. This conversation was not on Grandi's official program, but was arranged today. Secretary of State Stimson will be present.
Grandi was asked what he thought of the prospect of a Franco-Italian naval agreement.
"Italy feels," he said, "that such an agreement will be useful and will be welcomed by everyone. We are working for it and hope for practical results. We think that disarmament is the most important question existing now in the relations between countries."

Betlach was released by a mail carrier a short time after the robbery.

PETITION I. C. C. TO WITHHOLD FREIGHT HIKE ON POTATOES

RATE INCREASE WOULD RETARD PROGRESS OF AGRICULTURE, LETTER READS

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 17.—(UP)—The Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission today petitioned the interstate commerce commission, asking that freight rate increases on carload lots of potatoes be withheld.
Chairman O. P. B. Jacobson in a letter to the commission pointed out that potato prices are now at the lowest level in 25 years. The rate increase will further retard progress of agriculture, the letter said, and cut the small profit of the producers.
If the rate increases are not withheld the movement of potatoes will be diverted to trucks or there will be a curtailment in production. In either case the railroads will be the losers, the letter said. The rates range from 1/2 cent to 1 1/2 cents a hundredweight and are applicable to shipping points in Minnesota, Wisconsin and North Dakota.
Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Although unable to reach an agreement with representatives of the Northeastern Potato Traffic association, the Red River Valley Shippers association stepped aside today to watch efforts of the other group in seeking freight rate cuts in potato rates to Chicago and St. Louis.

PLAN $750,000,000 INCREASE MEASURE TO MEET DEFICIT

TREASURY EXPERTS ARE PUTTING IN FINAL FORM TAX RECOMMENDATIONS

Washington, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Plans for a $750,000,000 tax increase bill were announced today by Representative Bacharach, republican, New Jersey, a member of the house ways and means committee which originates such legislation.
Face Deficit in Billions
Bacharach said the prospect of a $1,500,000,000 deficit June 30, makes necessary the revision of his original plan announced two months ago. Bacharach was the first administration republican to announce the necessity of a tax increase. Other republican leaders have estimated the potential deficit at $2,000,000,000.
Treasury experts are putting in final form the recommendations for tax increases which will be sent President Hoover for submission to congress. Mr. Hoover is understood to contemplate a return to the generally higher tax levels of 1924.
Demos Silent
With these developments becomes apparent a policy of democratic silence with respect to tax increases. The democrats desire all responsibility for increased taxes to lie with the administration.
"If the administration insists on tax revision," Senator Harrison, Dem., Miss., said today, "the democrats, in my opinion, will adhere to the democratic principle of imposing taxes on those best able to pay."
The general basis on which Mr. Hoover is working reveals the extent to which the administration is planning to go in order to balance its budget.
The $700,000,000 plan would make up one-third of the deficit expected by the treasury at the end of this fiscal year. Economies in governmental operation and a change in the debt retirement program may furnish a substantial portion of the remaining two-thirds.

Congress Receptive
The question of a general sales tax is receiving no serious consideration at the White House. In the modified form of increased excise taxes, it will be included in the new plan. Sales of jewelry and other luxuries will be taxed on a scale similar to that of the 1924 law.
Congress already is in a receptive mood for the proposal. Almost unanimously, the republicans now here, including the independents, approved boosting the rate on higher incomes. They differed about increasing the normal rates on small incomes, but they showed enough unanimity of opinion to warrant the assumption that a tax increase bill will be passed before congress adjourns next June.

EXPORT TRADE IN SPURT FOR SECOND SUCCESSIVE MONTH

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(UP)—American foreign trade is reviving. The department of commerce reported today that for the second successive month, American sales abroad have increased.
Exports in October aggregated $205,000,000, an increase of approximately $25,000,000 over September sales abroad. Imports dropped slightly below the September figure. The favorable American trade balance for last month was $36,000,000. Only in one depression month—last August—has the international balance of trade been unfavorable to this country.
Imports in October were valued at $169,000,000. In September they were slightly more than $1,000,000 greater. Exports in October represented $180,231,000.
The department also released today an analysis of recent gold movements explaining the recent "raid on the dollar." Large withdrawals from the United States were attributed to England's abandonment of the gold standard which caused European countries with gold balances to draw on this country as a precautionary measure. The outward movement apparently has been stopped.

South St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 17.—(UP)—A new low since 1908 was set in the South St. Paul hog market today for butchers scaling 180 to 220 lbs. The top figure for hogs was $4.20 per hundred weight.

CHARGES MINNEAPOLIS C. OF C., PRIVATE GRAIN INTERESTS WITH CONSPIRACY TO WRECK FARMERS COOPERATIVE MOVEMENT

And This is "Winter"
Another reason why Brainerd and community people have not been required to burn much coal so far this "winter."
J. P. Bakken, 722 North 8th St., today displayed in the Dispatch offices a bouquet of petunias and baby breath which he said was picked in the garden at his summer home at Butternut Point on Whitefish lake.
St. Paul, Nov. 17.—(UP)—A "conspiracy on the part of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce and the private grain interests of the northwest to destroy the farmers' cooperative movement" was charged today by Tom Davis, at a hearing before Governor Floyd B. Olson.
Reply to Petition
The charges were the reply to a petition by State Senator Gerald Mullin, Minneapolis, alleging tampering with grain in elevator M. Minneapolis, and asking removal of O. P. B. Jacobson, C. J. Laurisch and F. W. Matson as commissioners.
The commissioners were charged with "neglect of duty, nonfeasance and malefeasance in office" in handling grain in the elevator controlled by the Farmers' Union Terminal Association.
Governor Adjourns Session
"The farmers of the northwest will never be able to obtain economic justice until, through the governor and the legislature, certain laws on the statute books are replaced, laws giving the (Minneapolis) Chamber of Commerce and the Duluth Board of Trade abut and despotic power over those belonging to said organizations and enabling them to destroy any cooperative organization having membership therein," Davis charged in his petition to the governor.
After listening to the counsel for both sides for nearly an hour and a half, the governor adjourned the hearing until 10 a. m. tomorrow.
Oral argument will be given at tomorrow's session regarding four specific charges by Senator Mullin.

Chapple, who attended the university here 10 years ago but graduated from Yale and then visited Russia and other European nations, denounced Frank as "a soap box orator with his face washed."
He assailed campus influences that he termed destructive to religion, morals and the capitalist economic system, naming 16 university professors.

Dying Woman Hurls Hush
Money Charge at Police

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 17.—(UP)—A dying woman's statement that Minneapolis police accepted money, drinks and gifts of turkeys, chickens and geese for protection today opened wholesale investigations of alleged police corruption.

The statement was made by Mrs. Ben Wilson, wife of a convicted bootlegger, to Judge Lester Youngdahl of the municipal court.

"The police investigation threatens to become ten times as sensational as the recent aldermanic graft disclosures," Youngdahl said. "Mrs. Wilson is seriously ill. She hasn't much longer to live and wants to tell what she knows."

Mrs. Wilson's statement on 19 typewritten pages told of operating a still and "blind pig" for eight or nine years. Five policemen were named as recipients of money and six others were accused of taking drinks and gifts. Amounts ranging from $5 to $15 a week were paid, she said. A lieutenant and two sergeants were implicated in her charges, Youngdahl said.

Other developments in the investigation included the summoning by Mayor William A. Anderson of all police captains. The officers were asked to "explain why so little evidence was uncovered in raids made on complaints by citizens."

Subpoenas were issued by the county attorney's office for Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and their son Frank. Chief of Police William A. Meehan meanwhile asked County Attorney Ed J. Goff to investigate threats that had been made against the lives of policemen who arrested bootleggers.

GRANDI EXPLAINS
ARMS HOLIDAY AS GOOD WILL MOVEITALIAN FOREIGN MINISTER TO CONFER WITH HOOVER
AT 4 P. M.

BULLETIN

Washington, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Dino Grandi, Italian minister of foreign affairs, will not see President Hoover until tomorrow.

The White House said this afternoon that "through a little mix-up" the announcement was made that he would visit Mr. Hoover this afternoon. The appointment conflicted with a reception by the overseas writers. Grandi will attend the reception and will not go to the White House until tomorrow.

Washington, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Foreign Minister Dino Grandi of Italy told the American press today that his country considered disarmament as the most important question before the world. He added that Italy was working for an agreement with France on their naval dispute.

Asked for Italy's view on revision of war debts and reparations the youthful fascist minister said he would only call attention to the statement of his chief of state, Premier Mussolini, in 1922. Mussolini then said that war debts and reparations were interdependent and must be scaled down.

President Hoover announced today that he would discuss world problems with Grandi at 4 p. m. White House conference. This conversation was not on Grandi's official program, but was arranged today. Secretary of State Stimson will be present.

Grandi was asked what he thought of the prospect of a Franco-Italian naval agreement.

"Italy feels," he said, "that such an agreement will be useful and will be welcomed by everyone. We are working for it and hope for practical results. We think that disarmament is the most important question existing now in the relations between countries."

COUNCIL FORMALLY
APPROVES SLASHES
IN CITY'S BUDGETWATER & LIGHT DEPARTMENT
PROPOSAL LOWERS LEVY
2½ MILLS

The good "news" to city taxpayers that their financial obligations toward maintenance of city government will be lightened received formal approval by the city council at its last night's meeting.

Gift of $10,000

The reduction in city taxes was first announced through the Daily Dispatch Armistice Day following a conference between the City Water and Light Department and the finance committee of the council headed by Alderman V. F. Anderson. The cooperative measure expressed by the utilities board at that meeting virtually meant a gift to the city of approximately $10,000 to which the city taxpayers at large will join in repeating the benefits.

New Levy 21.75 Mills

The 1931 city tax levy, payable in 1932, as revised from the original levy adopted by the council on October 5, which was rescinded last night in favor of the new and lower levy establishes the levy at 21.75 mills or its equivalent of $66,905.33 raised by taxation upon the taxable property of the city in the ensuing year.

The civic spirit of the Water and Light Board in its consideration to taxpayers causes two reductions in the levy of funds without decreasing the amount of money in these funds.

Remittance to Two Funds

Since the charter requires that three mills must be levied in the hydrant rental and electric fund, this levy will remain but its equivalent will be refunded to the city. Of this amount 1½ mills will be applied to the general fund which makes possible on paper the striking of any levy to this fund. An additional one mill will be refunded for the purpose of street and sewer work, lowering the original levy in this fund of 2 mills to one mill.

The original budget adopted on Oct. 5 fixed the levy at 24.25 mills or approximately $73,595.60 to be raised by taxation.

Division of Tax Budget
By the new budget the existing levy follows, its adoption passed unanimously on motion of Alderman V. F. Anderson and W. J. Hall:

Purpose of Tax, Funds	Mills
Interest	2.5
Sinking	2
Public Safety	7
Library	1
Park	.75
Poor	1
Street and Sewer	1
Public Property	.5
Permanent Improvement	.5

Rob Jewelry Store
While Hundreds Pass

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 17.—(UP)—While hundreds of persons walked past the Betlach Jewelry Co. today, two dapper bandits bound F. E. Betlach, proprietor, and leisurely helped themselves to $4,500 in diamonds and jewelry.

Besides the gems, the bandits took several watches. The watches stolen were unnumbered. Both bandits wore gloves to avoid leaving fingerprints.

Betlach was released by a mail carrier a short time after the robbery.

PETITION I. C. C. TO WITHHOLD FREIGHT
HIKE ON POTATOESRATE INCREASE WOULD RETARD
PROGRESS OF AGRICULTURE,
LETTER READS

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 17.—(UP)—The Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission today petitioned the interstate commerce commission, asking that freight rate increases on carload lots of potatoes be withheld.

Chairman O. P. E. Jacobson in a letter to the commission pointed out that potato prices are now at the lowest level in 25 years. The rate increase will further retard progress of agriculture, the letter said, and cut the small profit of the producers.

If the rate increases are not withheld the movement of potatoes will be diverted to trucks or there will be a curtailment in production. In either case the railroads will be the losers, the letter said. The rates range from ½ cent to 1½ cents a hundredweight and are applicable to shipping points in Minnesota, Wisconsin and North Dakota.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Although unable to reach an agreement with representatives of the Northeastern Potato Traffic association, the Red River Valley Shippers association stepped aside today to watch efforts of the other group in seeking freight rate cuts in potato rates to Chicago and St. Louis.

BRANDS FRANK, LA FOLLETTE, PROFESSORS
AS COMMUNIST AGITATORS IN ADDRESS

Madison, Wis., Nov. 17.—(UP)—President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin, Gov. Phillip F. LaFollette and 16 Wisconsin University professors were charged with socialistic and communistic teachings in a bitter campus address by John B. Chapple, Ashland, Wis., newspaper editor.

Chapple, who attended the university here 10 years ago but graduated from Yale and then visited Russia and other European nations, denounced Frank as "a soap box orator with his face washed."

He assailed campus influences that he termed destructive to religion, morals and the capitalist economic system, naming 16 university professors.

"The American Civil Liberties Union has on its committees, which spread like a spider's web at radicalism throughout the nation, Governor LaFollette, President Frank and Professor Alexander Meiklejohn, head of the experimental college of the university," Chapple said quoting a congressional investigation committee report that 90 per cent of the league's efforts were on behalf of communists.

When Chapple brought up the subject of compulsory military training, a student shouted for those who would refuse to go to war to rise. A hundred students stood up.

PLAN $750,000,000
INCREASE MEASURE
TO MEET DEFICITTREASURY EXPERTS ARE PUTTING IN FINAL FORM TAX
RECOMMENDATIONS

Washington, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Plans for a $750,000,000 tax increase bill were announced today by Representative Bacharach, republican, New Jersey, a member of the house ways and means committee which originates such legislation.

Face Deficit in Billions
Bacharach said the prospect of a $1,500,000,000 deficit June 30, makes necessary the revision of his original plan announced two months ago. Bacharach was the first administration republican to announce the necessity of a tax increase. Other republican leaders have estimated the potential deficit at $2,000,000,000.

Treasury experts are putting in final form the recommendations for tax increases which will be sent President Hoover for submission to congress. Mr. Hoover is understood to contemplate a return to the generally higher tax levels of 1924.

Demos Silent
With these developments becomes apparent a policy of democratic silence with respect to tax increases. The democrats desire all responsibility for increased taxes to lie with the administration.

"If the administration insists on tax revision," Senator Harrison, Dem., Miss., said today, "the democrats, in my opinion, will adhere to the democratic principle of imposing taxes on those best able to pay."

The general basis on which Mr. Hoover is working reveals the extent to which the administration is planning to go in order to balance its budget.

The $700,000,000 plan would make up one-third of the deficit expected by the treasury at the end of this fiscal year. Economies in governmental operation and a change in the debt retirement program may furnish a substantial portion of the remaining two-thirds.

Congress Receptive

The question of a general sales tax is receiving no serious consideration at the White House. In the modified form of increased excise taxes, it will be included in the new plan. Sales of jewelry and other luxuries will be taxed on a scale similar to that of the 1924 law.

Congress already is in a receptive mood for the proposal. Almost unanimously, the republicans now here, including the independents, approved boosting the rate on higher incomes. They differed about increasing the normal rates on small incomes, but they showed enough unanimity of opinion to warrant the assumption that a tax increase bill will be passed before congress adjourns next June.

EXPORT TRADE IN SPURT FOR SECOND
SUCCESSIVE MONTHREVIVAL OF FOREIGN TRADE
INDICATED IN EXPORT RE-PORT FOR OCTOBER

Washington, Nov. 17.—(UP)—American foreign trade is reviving. The department of commerce reported today that for the second successive month, American sales abroad have increased.

Exports in October aggregated $205,000,000, an increase of approximately $25,000,000 over September sales abroad. Imports dropped slightly below the September figure. The favorable American trade balance for last month was $36,000,000. Only in one depression month—last August—has the international balance of trade been unfavorable to this country.

Imports in October were valued at $169,000,000. In September they were slightly more than $1,000,000 greater. Exports in October represented $180,231,000.

The department also released today an analysis of recent gold movements explaining the recent "raid on the dollar." Large withdrawals from the United States were attributed to England's abandonment of the gold standard which caused European countries with gold balances to draw on this country as a precautionary measure. The outward movement apparently has been stopped.

LEGION FEAST OF DUCKS ANOTHER ANNUAL TRIUMPH

SIXTY LEGIONNAIRES EAT DUCK APEACE AND HAVE ROUSING GREAT TIME

The Carl Sidney Hanson Post of the American Legion again upheld its state wide recognition last night for the outstanding Legion social event of the season—the Brainerd Legion's annual duck dinner.

And in a year too when the Legion hunters were permitted only 30 days in which to bag the wily duck. The duck dinner recorded another success for the local post, although this time they diverted considerably from the seriousness of their cause. The feast took place in the Iron Exchange hall.

Sixty Legionnaires sat down to eat duck tastily prepared by Head Chef Al Veillette, known widely for his ability in the culinary arts. A full grown duck, roasted to a deep brown, was served each person present.

Among the speakers present were names familiar to Legionnaires throughout the state. These included Mike Murray, St. Cloud, Captain E. E. Miller, E. T. Gilbertson, state vice commander, and Dr. Paul.

Walter M. Murphy, former "Dad" and John M. By, present "Dad" of the local post spoke. Also an interesting speaker was Luke Smith, Brainerd, Civil War veteran.

POPULAR ACCORD GIVEN OPERETTA DEMANDS REPEAT

LINCOLN P. T. A. SPONSORS BIRD OPERETTA AT HIGH SCHOOL FRIDAY NIGHT

"The Flag in Birdland," an operetta, will be presented at the Washington high school auditorium Friday night at 8 o'clock under the direction of Miss Effie Drexler and sponsored by the Lincoln school P. T. A.

The operetta comes as a repeat performance to the demands of Brainerd people who witnessed the bird operetta here two years ago in which 40 grade school children participated. Because of the intervening time Miss Drexler has found it necessary to select an entirely new cast. Much effort has been expended in training the children and the making of costumes.

The operetta is written by Catherine Bryce and the music arranged by David Stearns.

The doves, robins, bluebirds, Miss Liberty and the eagle are played by roles in this interesting operetta which tells a story of spring and the colors in the American flag.

LIONS PARTY BREAKS BRITTONS TO CARRY UP IN RIOT--YEAH, MINERAL APPEAL TO A PUBLICITY STUNT CHAMBER COMMERCE

GRAND RAPIDS ENGENDERS NOVEL HIGHLIGHT OF ZONE MEETING AT AITKIN

Wuxtra, Wuxtra! Lions Club Aitkin Zone Meet Ends in Riot!

Don't be alarmed. The party was perfectly conventional. It was just a publicity stunt by members of the Grand Rapids Lions Club.

During the height of the program at Aitkin last night, a Grand Rapids Lion rose to his feet and swaying as though inebriated, talked quite a bit of hokum and then gave a few cheers.

When he sat down there was a simultaneous shouting by Grand Rapids members crying the sale of a newspaper printed especially for the occasion by a Grand Rapids printing house.

"Read all about it. The Lions end meeting at Aitkin in a riot. Drunk starts hula-balo. Men and women engage in fistfuffs," they shouted.

And then each person attending the banquet was supplied with a "Wuxtra" telling about the gruesome details.

But on the level, the Lions Zone meeting at Aitkin was a delightful party. Anyway that's the real truth of it, Brainerd members and their ladies reported on returning to this city last night.

CITY COUNCIL COMMITTEE TO GIVE THEM MORAL SUPPORT AT MEETING

Charles E. and Fred Britton, Brainerd brothers who are trying to prove that Brainerd is rich in mineral deposits, received moral support in their endeavors by action of the city council last night.

The council by motion appointed the property committee to appear with the Brittons at the next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to place before this group of Brainerd merchants and business leaders the proposition of drilling for ore, particularly on the Holland tract in East Brainerd, bequeathed to the city.

Charles Britton, veteran prospector, maintains firmly that the land contains a rich body of iron, silver, gold and zinc ore and that one particular vein of gold is 161 feet deep and eight feet wide.

The brothers will place their proposition before the Chamber of Commerce in an attempt to interest the members to authorize the sinking of a drill hole.

The city council cannot legally appropriate any money for this exploration work.

LEGION FEAST OF DUCKS ANOTHER ANNUAL TRIUMPH

SIXTY LEGIONNAIRES EAT DUCK
APIECE AND HAVE ROUS-
ING GREAT TIME

The Carl Sidney Hanson Post of the American Legion again upheld its state wide recognition last night for the outstanding Legion social event of the season—the Brainerd Legion's annual duck dinner.

And in a year too when the Legion hunters were permitted only 30 days in which to bag the wily duck. The duck dinner recorded another success for the local post, although this time they diverted considerably from the seriousness of their cause. The feast took place in the Iron Exchange hall.

Sixty Legionnaires sat down to eat duck tastily prepared by Head Chef Al Veillette, known widely for his ability in the culinary arts. A full grown duck, roasted to a deep brown, was served each person present.

Among the speakers present were names familiar to Legionnaires throughout the state. These included Mike Murray, St. Cloud, Captain E. D. Miller, E. T. Gilbertson, state vice commander, and Dr. Paul.

Walter M. Murphy, former "Dad" and John M. Pye, present "Dad" of the local post spoke. Also an interesting speaker was Luke Smith, Brainerd, Civil War veteran.

LINCOLN P. T. A. SPONSORS BIRD
OPERETTA AT HIGH SCHOOL
FRIDAY NIGHT

"The Flag in Birdland," an operetta, will be presented at the Washington high school auditorium Friday night at 8 o'clock under the direction of Miss Effie Drexler and sponsored by the Lincoln school P. T. A.

The operetta comes as a repeat performance to the demands of Brainerd people who witnessed the bird operetta here two years ago in which 40 grade school children participated. Because of the intervening time Miss Drexler has found it necessary to select an entirely new cast. Much effort has been expended in training the children and the making of costumes.

The operetta is written by Catherine Bryce and the music arranged by David Stearns.

The doves, robins, bluebirds, Miss Liberty and the eagle are played by roles in this interesting operetta which tells a story of spring and the colors in the American flag.

LIONS PARTY BREAKS BRITTONS TO CARRY UP IN RIOT--YEAH, MINERAL APPEAL TO A PUBLICITY STUNT CHAMBER COMMERCE

GRAND RAPIDS ENGENDERS
NOVEL HIGHLIGHT OF ZONE
MEETING AT AITKIN

Wuxtra, Wuxtra!
Lions Club Aitkin Zone Meet Ends in Riot!

Don't be alarmed. The party was perfectly conventional. It was just a publicity stunt by members of the Grand Rapids Lions Club.

During the height of the program at Aitkin last night, a Grand Rapids Lion rose to his feet and swaying as though inebriated, talked quite a bit of hokum and then gave a few cheers.

When he sat down there was a simultaneous shouting by Grand Rapids members crying the sale of a newspaper printed especially for the occasion by a Grand Rapids printing house.

"Read all about it. The Lions end meeting at Aitkin in a riot. Drunk starts hula-balo. Men and women engage in fistfights," they shouted.

And then each person attending the banquet was supplied with a "Wuxtra" telling about the gruesome details.

But on the level, the Lions Zone meeting at Aitkin was a delightful party. Anyway that's the real truth of it, Brainerd members and their ladies reported on returning to this city last night.

Life Sentences to Purple Gang Members

Detroit, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Three members of the notorious Detroit Purple gang, Raymond Bernstein, Harry Keywell and Irving Milberg, today were sentenced to spend the remainder of their lives in the Marquette state penitentiary. The life sentence was mandatory upon their conviction for the massacre of three rival gangsters.

CITY COUNCIL COMMITTEE TO GIVE THEM MORAL SUPPORT
AT MEETING

Charles E. and Fred Britton, Brainerd brothers who are trying to prove that Brainerd is rich in mineral deposits, received moral support in their endeavors by action of the city council last night.

The council by motion appointed the property committee to appear with the Brittons at the next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to place before this group of Brainerd merchants and business leaders the proposition of drilling for ore, particularly on the Holland tract in East Brainerd, bequeathed to the city.

Charles Britton, veteran prospector, maintains firmly that the land contains a rich body of iron, silver, gold and zinc ore and that one particular vein of gold is 161 feet deep and eight feet wide.

The brothers will place their proposition before the Chamber of Commerce in an attempt to interest the members to authorize the sinking of a drill hole.

The city council cannot legally appropriate any money for this exploration work.

FAILURE TO STOP CAR ON ENTERING T. H. IS OFFENSE

TWO PAY FINES: OFFICERS ARREST MAN FOR CARELESS DRIVING LAST NIGHT

Failure to stop on entering arterial highways constitute complaint for arrest, Minnesota Highway Patrol officers said today in warning automobile drivers here.

Two men were arrested yesterday and paid fines of $3 each in Pillager justice court for failing to come to a complete stop in driving their cars on State Trunk Highway No. 2.

An arrest was made last night four miles west of Pillager in which patrol officers charged L. A. Anderson, Pillager, with careless driving. He was to be arraigned before Justice of the Peace W. M. Bingman at Pillager today.

Officers reported they arrested Anderson after he had zigzagged about the highway. They stated that they had evidence that Anderson had been drinking liquor.

LAUNCH PROGRAM CHRISTMAS SEALS AT LUNCHEON HERE

WORKERS AND OTHERS TO GREET VISITING DELEGATION THURSDAY

Christmas Seal workers and others interested in promoting the success of this year's program will meet Thursday at 12:30 p. m. at luncheon in the Ransford hotel to listen to plans and make preparations for the sale of Seals starting immediately after Thanksgiving Day.

The meeting here will be under auspices of the health committee of the Brainerd Musical club of which Mrs. W. C. Rasch is president. Mrs. J. A. The meeting here is one of six district meetings which will be attended by health officials on a tour of the state to prepare communities for the Christmas Seals campaign. In this group are the following who will appear on the luncheon program: Dr. E. A. Meyerding, St. Paul, executive secretary of the Minnesota Public Health association; Rev. W. C. Sainsbury, Fargo, N. D., commencement speaker here a year ago; Dr. E. G. Hubin of the Deerwood Sanatorium; Miss Marguerite Breen, director of the educational department of the Minnesota Public Health association; C. E. Brainer, former superintendent of the schools of North Mankato.

New "Colds-Control" Plan Is Welcomed by Mothers

Plan Introduced by Makers of Vicks VapoRub to Reduce the Family "Colds-Tax" is Made Possible by a New Preparation.

Local Druggists Offer a Test of the New Product and Plan to VapoRub Users on Unlimited Guarantee of Satisfactory Results.

Mothers are constantly faced with the problem of colds and their costs. It is the mothers, therefore, who especially appreciate the Vicks Plan for better "Control-of-Colds" in the home—just perfected by the makers of Vicks VapoRub.

The Vicks Plan is made possible by a new preparation, Vicks Nose & Throat Drops, based on a new idea in "preventing" colds. It is a companion product to VapoRub, the modern external method of "treating" colds. The two preparations aid and supplement each other. Together, as directed below, they give you the Vicks Plan for better "Control-of-Colds."

1.—Before a Cold Starts

Use Vicks Nose Drops—a few drops up each nostril—whenever you or your children have been exposed to anything which your own experience tells you is apt to bring on a cold—contact with others having fresh colds, crowds, stuffy ill-ventilated rooms, public places—a night on the Pullman or a dusty automobile ride—sudden changes in temperature, wet or cold—inhalation smoke, dust, gases—or when you are tired from overwork.

In short, don't wait for that stuffy, sneezy irritation of the nasal passages—Nature's warning that you are actually "catching cold."

2.—After a Cold Starts

At night, massage the throat and chest well with Vicks VapoRub—now available in "stainless form," if you prefer. Spread on thick and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bed-clothing loose around the neck so that the medicated vapors arising may be inhaled freely all night long. During the day, use Vicks Nose Drops every few hours—any time, any place. This gives you full 24-hour treatment.

Ideal for Children

Both these Vicks products are external and hence can be used as freely and as often as needed without the risk of too much "dosing." Internal "dosing" so often disturbs the digestion—especially the delicate digestions of children. This impairs the appetite, which, in turn, reduces body strength at a time when resistance to disease is most needed. Don't "dose" colds—especially children's colds—except on advice of your family physician.

Trial Offer to Vicks Users

Proof of this Plan is in its trial—in your own home. Get a bottle of Vicks Drops today. Keep it alongside your trusted Vicks VapoRub. Use them together as directed. Their better "Control-of-Colds" will be noted in fewer colds—colds of less severity and shorter duration. An actual saving to you in money, loss of time and health. Otherwise, the test will cost you nothing. For, unless results are more than satisfactory, your druggist will refund in full the price of the new Vicks Nose Drops.—Adv.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN supplies "BULK," VITAMIN B, IRON

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" in a convenient, ever-ready form. This "bulk" is much like that in lettuce, but it is concentrated in more convenient form to relieve constipation.

Inside the body, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN isn't like you see it in the package, but a soft mass. This gently cleanses the intestines, promoting regularity.

In this, it is aided by Vitamin B, richly present in ALL-BRAN. This vitamin tones the intestines, promoting regularity.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—usually enough for most types of constipation. If you suffer from intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a good source of iron for the blood. Enjoy it as a cereal or in cooking. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

TWO PAY FINES: OFFICERS ARREST MAN FOR CARELESS DRIVING LAST NIGHT

Failure to stop on entering arterial highways constitute complaint for arrest, Minnesota Highway Patrol officers said today in warning automobile drivers here.

Two men were arrested yesterday and paid fines of $3 each in Pillager justice court for failing to come to a complete stop in driving their cars on State Trunk Highway No. 2.

An arrest was made last night four miles west of Pillager in which patrol officers charged L. A. Anderson, Pillager, with careless driving. He was to be arraigned before Justice of the Peace W. M. Bingman at Pillager today.

Officers reported they arrested Anderson after he had zigzagged about the highway. They stated that they had evidence that Anderson had been drinking liquor.

LAUNCH PROGRAM CHRISTMAS SEALS AT LUNCHEON HERE

WORKERS AND OTHERS TO GREET VISITING DELEGATION THURSDAY

Christmas Seal workers and others interested in promoting the success of this year's program will meet Thursday at 12:30 p. m. at luncheon in the Ransford hotel to listen to plans and make preparations for the sale of Seals starting immediately after Thanksgiving Day.

The meeting here will be under auspices of the health committee of the Brainerd Musical club of which Mrs. W. C. Rasch is president. Mrs. J. A. Thabes, Sr., a member of the State Executive Committee of the Minnesota Public Health Society and a member of the Brainerd committee is giving valuable assistance in plans for the luncheon.

The meeting here is one of six district meetings which will be attended by health officials on a tour of the state to prepare communities for the Christmas Seals campaign. In this group are the following who will appear on the luncheon program: Dr. E. A. Meyerding, St. Paul, executive secretary of the Minnesota Public Health association; Rev. W. C. Sainsbury, Fargo, N. D., commencement speaker here a year ago; Dr. E. G. Hubin of the Deerwood Sanatorium; Miss Margaret Breen, director of the educational department of the Minnesota Public Health association; C. E. Brainerd, former superintendent of the schools of North Mankato.

Fifteen states now sterilize the feeble-minded.

New "Colds-Control" Plan Is Welcomed by Mothers

Plan Introduced by Makers of Vicks VapoRub to Reduce the Family "Colds-Tax" is Made Possible by a New Preparation.

Local Druggists Offer a Test of the New Product and Plan to VapoRub Users on Unlimited Guarantee of Satisfactory Results.

Mothers are constantly faced with the problem of colds and their costs. It is the mothers, therefore, who especially appreciate the Vicks Plan for better "Control-of-Colds" in the home—just perfected by the makers of Vicks VapoRub.

The Vicks Plan is made possible by a new preparation, Vicks Nose & Throat Drops, based on a new idea in "preventing" colds. It is a companion product to VapoRub, the modern external method of "treating" colds. The two preparations aid and supplement each other. Together, as directed below, they give you the Vicks Plan for better "Control-of-Colds."

1.—Before a Cold Starts

Use Vicks Nose Drops—a few drops up each nostril—whenever you or your children have been exposed to anything which your own experience tells you is apt to bring on a cold—contact with others having fresh colds, crowds, stuffy ill-ventilated rooms, public places—a night on the Pullman or a dusty automobile ride—sudden changes in temperature, wet or cold—inhaling smoke, dust, gases—or when you are tired from overwork.

In short, don't wait for that stuffy, sneezy irritation of the nasal passages—Nature's warning that you are actually "catching cold."

2.—After a Cold Starts

At night, massage the throat and chest well with Vicks VapoRub—now available in "stainless form," if you prefer. Spread on thick and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bed-clothing loose around the neck so that the medicated vapors arising may be inhaled freely all night long. During the day, use Vicks Nose Drops every few hours—any time, any place. This gives you full 24-hour treatment.

Ideal for Children

Both these Vicks products are external and hence can be used as freely and as often as needed without the risk of too much "dosing." Internal "dosing" so often disturbs the digestion—especially the delicate digestions of children. This impairs the appetite, which, in turn, reduces body strength at a time when resistance to disease is most needed. Don't "dose" colds—especially children's colds—except on advice of your family physician.

Trial Offer to Vicks Users

Proof of this Plan is in its trial—in your own home. Get a bottle of Vicks Drops today. Keep it alongside your trusted Vicks VapoRub. Use them together as directed. Their better "Control-of-Colds" will be noted in fewer colds—colds of less severity and shorter duration. An actual saving to you in money, loss of time and health. Otherwise, the test will cost you nothing. For, unless results are more than satisfactory, your druggist will refund in full the price of the new Vicks Nose Drops.—Adv.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN supplies

"BULK," VITAMIN B, IRON

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" in a convenient, ever-ready form. This "bulk" is much like that in lettuce, but it is concentrated in more convenient form to relieve constipation.

Inside the body, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN isn't like you see it in the package, but a soft mass. This gently cleanses the intestines of waste.

In this, it is aided by Vitamin B, richly present in ALL-BRAN. This vitamin tones the intestines, promoting regularity.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—usually enough for most types of constipation. If you suffer from intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a good source of iron for the blood. Enjoy it as a cereal or in cooking. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BUY BENEFIT SHOW TICKETS NOW--

Less than a week remains before the benefit show sponsored by the Paramount theater for the benefit of the Brainerd Community Relief fund but the thermometer registering the ticket sale has not shown any unusual activity as yet. True, hundreds of tickets are in the hands of persons who are doing their bit toward aiding the good cause by selling them. But, they themselves are helpless if the public does not answer the challenge to relieve the distressed and suffering by purchasing tickets for the benefit.

Every cent raised through the benefit show will be turned over to the Brainerd Community Relief fund. The Paramount theater has purchased the picture. It is also providing additional vaudeville acts and its entire facilities together with the time of its employees are being donated to the worthy cause. Surely, if this institution can sacrifice an entire box office revenue to aid the needy we can but offer our assistance by buying tickets.

Success of the benefit show will relieve the actual drive for funds of the strain of the necessity of raising hundreds of dollars more. And, a splendid evening's entertainment is assured at the benefit by the excellent bill arranged.

To the new president of the Crow Wing county 4-H clubs, Miss Betty Wahl, Ironton, The Daily Dispatch wishes to extend its greetings. Miss Wahl has a busy year ahead of her but the faith and confidence shown in her by the individual units in naming her to preside over its functions is, we believe, fully justified. We would again like to express our sincere wish for a highly successful year for Miss Wahl and to pledge our every co-operation in an effort to aid her in all undertakings.

HEED THE STOP SIGNS--

Necessity of traffic laws and regulations governing the operation of a motor vehicle cannot be emphasized too much. They are vitally necessary but, after all, if they are not heeded there seems to be little use for them.

One of the most flagrant of the regulations violated is that of running a stop sign. True, the stop and go signal at the corner of Laurel and Sixth street is well observed and wherever a policeman is in evidence usually the practice of running a stop sign is temporarily abandoned.

But, the police, with a limited force as it is, cannot watch every stop sign. Neither should they as it should be the sense of every motor car driver to make it his duty to observe not only the "stop" buttons but every traffic law.

A few stiff fines meted out in the course of second offenses, or even the first time for that matter, may curb this dangerous practice which, observers declare, has become quite flagrant in the residential sections.

News dispatches tell us that Ely Culbertson and Sidney Lenz, bridge "sharks" in every sense of the word, have contracted for a match. Along with the trend of the times and, naturally, shunning the possibility of any fatality in such a famous match, we wonder whether both will be "frisked" before hostilities begin.

GIVE TO BANISH NEED--

The pitiful little 13-year-old who was rescued from the windowless Washington closet where her father and stepmother had confined her seems to have attracted the kindly attention of most of the nation. Endless columns have been printed about her. We have been told in detail how she has been introduced to the joys of sunlight, toys and good food, and we have been guilty of a good deal of sentimentality concerning her.

News events like the one that has built itself up around her are not entirely good for us. They stir our sympathies, to be sure, and they help us to realize how black and dismal a child's life can be made. But they divert our minds from the real issue.

This youngster's situation was exceptional—in one sense. There are not, luckily, many children situated precisely as she was. But there are hundreds of thousands of children in the United States who do not, on the whole, have things so very much better than she had them; and when we expand our sympathetic energies on her we have none left over for the rest, and it is hard for anyone to arouse our interest in them.

Ask any social service worker to tell you about the way some children have to live in our biggest cities. Get some union representative to tell you about the lot of children in some of the nation's coal towns. Go to one or another of the innumerable homes in which the bread-winner has not had a job for a year or more and see how the children get along there.

Then, when you have done that, see if this pathetically unlucky little girl in Washington was really much worse off than thousands upon thousands of her brothers and sisters.

We don't ordinarily bother our heads much about these other children. We would rather pour out our moral indignation over individual cases that get on the front pages. This little girl lived in the dark, she had poor food, she had no toys. Well, there are many others like her—only we don't hear about them.

From one end of the country to the other, about now, charitable organizations are appealing for money. If the case of this Washington youngster oppressed you—just remember, when you have a chance to contribute to one of these fund campaigns, that your money will be helping some other children who are not much better off than she was.

THE NAVY SQUABBLE--

It is hardly surprising that the committee chosen by President Hoover to pass on the "abysmal ignorance" charges of the head of the Navy League should have turned in a report upholding the president. The charges voiced by the Navy League's president were wild, on their face; that the gentleman was speaking out of turn could be deduced as soon as his statement was read.

Indeed, now that the smoke of battle has died away, it is possible to wonder whether President Hoover needed to take any notice of the accusation in the first place. A propaganda organization is expected to attack any public official who does things of which it does not approve, and most people pay very little attention. That it would have been so in this case is hardly to be doubted. At any rate, the issue seems to be settled now, and it is obvious that the head of the Navy League has not greatly added to his reputation.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
MARY HARKNESS plots to catch THE FLY, who she believes "framed" her brother, EDDIE, with the murder of old MRS. JUPITER, and later ran Eddie down and killed him to keep him from talking.

She is aided by BOWEN of the spy, Mary's fiance, DIRK RUYTER, and his family object to the notoriety. They believe Eddie guilty, as do the police. The case is dropped.

BRUCE JUPITER, absent many years, returns from Europe with a woman friend. His father orders him out and makes Mary his heir. Bruce swears to ruin Mary, who he thinks is a gold-digger. . . . Dirks forbids Mary to continue the investigation, refusing to believe in the existence of The Fly. He tells Mary that people are repeating Bruce's charges and says if she goes to Miami on the Jupiter yacht, as she plans, he will also believe them.

Mary goes, seeking The Fly, whose house is running at high speed. Dirks shows attention to his former sweetheart, CORNELIA TABOR, who is trying to win him back. In Miami Mary meets COUNT DE LOMA. De Loma is the name of the owner of The Fly's house. She promises to dance with him at a hotel ball.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXX

"NICE chap," Bates remarked dryly, as De Loma departed. "What is he—Frenchman?" His bland gaze rested on Louise, who pretended not to have heard.

"Must we stay longer?" she appealed to Bruce, pouting. She put the gleaming carmine tips of two fingers on each temple. "My head—I must lie down."

Bruce paid the check. As Mary expected, the Countess made no further mention of her race track winnings. They might be the inspiration of the feast but they would never pay for it. She had been sure of that all along.

In the elevator, Bruce made some low-voiced plea which Mary did not catch, but it was refused with further protestations of illness. Bruce urged. The Countess' wall arose: "But it is impossible! I am miserable. You do not know—tomorrow I will look at all the shorelines you wish to show me. Tonight, no."

Mary bade them all good night at the door of her room. Mr. Jupiter responded with a grunt—he was half asleep already, as the result of too much fresh air and too much food. He would not be curious about her comings and goings if she chose to steal out now and meet Bowen. The Countess would not be leaving her pillow, if her protestations of suffering were genuine. And Bruce would be dancing attendance upon his dear Louise, unless he had really forsaken the role of lap-dog. Mary doubted that.

The coast was clear. Mary put on dark, inconspicuous clothes and hurried out to the rendezvous with Bowen. The Laurel Tearoom was a small, stuffy affair with a row of high-backed benches forming booths along one side. In the first of these, peering out worriedly, she saw him—and fell into the seat opposite with a gasp of relief. The wing of the chair hid her face from others in the room. She felt as if she had reached sanctuary.

Bowen looked at his wrist watch and raised eloquent eyes to the ceiling. "If I were married to you," he said, "I'd cut your heart out. Where've you been for the last three hours? Look it." He pointed to the disorderly array of teacups, each with its wheel of yellow lemon and sodden tealb, that surrounded him in a semi-circle—and at the glass ash tray, filled and overflowing with twisted butts of defunct cigarettes.

"I don't even like tea," he complained bitterly, "but it's all you can get in this place. And I had to make an attempt to drink the stuff or get thrown out of here. Where in the eternal interest of accuracy have you been?"

"With De Loma," Mary managed to gasp, her breath still short from running.

That sobered him. "De Loma! For God's sake! Where did you pick him up?"

MARY told him as coherently as she could, and at the finish sprung her even more startling news—that she had an engagement to meet him at the fete the following night.

"Listen, girl," Bowen said slowly and solemnly when she had finished, "We've got to go into a huddle over this, and not mull anything. We've had the breaks so far. If Lady Loma will just be with us a little longer. . . . Do the others know who De Loma is?"

"No, I'm afraid to tell Bruce. I don't know him well enough to know whether he could be trusted to help us play the game or not. He might snatch a gun and go looking for De Loma, but that's not what we want. Mr. Jupiter must know—but I haven't had a chance to tell him yet. I rushed right off to meet you."

"You and the tortoise," commented Bowen. "Well, let's think, if it kills us. Have you got the necklace here?"

Mary hesitated only a second before replying, "Yes." She had lost the complete trust she had once given to everyone. Dirks had planted the germ of distrust thoroughly; hereafter, she would be frank, with reservations, even with Bowen.

"What kind of blow-out is that tomorrow night?" Bowen asked, with wrinkled brow. "What is a fete, anyhow? Fancy dress?"

"I haven't the least idea what the Ambassador's notion of a fete would be," Mary returned. "I imagine it's going to be one of those ghastly affairs where society dowagers go about wearing paper hats and sucking lollypops. Why?"

"I was thinking about your costume. Will you have a chance to wear the necklace?"

"Do you think I'd better—so soon?"

"Soon?" "Well, I've only just met him tonight. Wouldn't he think I was too trustful?"

"You'll have your party with you, won't you? What's trustworthy about that?"

"That's true. Well—" "What's the matter? Scared?"

"Not exactly." She gulped. "He's—horrible, though. He gives me shivers when he looks at me. . . . his eyes. . . . like black coils. . . . A shudder passed over her. "But if I must, I must. That's what I came here for."

"The sooner the better," Bowen advised. "The Ambassador won't put him up rent free much longer. They're wise to his kind. He was probably counting on that pony of his to recoup his finances. What a winning that would have been! He's probably spent all he got from the diamond rings and the bracelet he took from Mrs. Jupiter. If he has let go of them at all. He may be keeping them still, afraid to turn them over to a fence for fear of being double-crossed. Well, maybe they'll come in handy to pay his board-bill with—diamonds are swell security."

SO that was what the dark little man was summoning De Loma about! A reckoning of his bill.

"But here's something I don't understand," Mary told him. "De Loma and the Countess are old friends. Do you suppose she could be an accomplice? She's been running around Europe with Bruce for two or three years—I've gathered that from their talk of different places they'd seen together. And The Fly has been busy right here in this country, for several years, you told me. Before that he claims to have hauled from South America. He looks Spanish enough. At least, he looks like Spaniards do in the movies—I don't know that I've ever seen a real one. He has those funny sideburns, and he's brown enough, goodness knows—"

"You don't have to go any farther than Rockaway to get a swell tan," Bowen reminded her. "I'm still digging away at his past—been putting in my spare time here going through the police morgue. I haven't set eyes on anyone yet that looks like him, but I haven't given up hope. He picked up that Spaniard somewhere, so why not in this part of the country? He may have come up from Cuba, or some of those other islands. They're full of polyglot 'Spaniards'—usually about one-third Spanish blood and two-thirds what-have-you. Not that it matters a damn if he's an Eskimo, but I've got a hunch that he left a nice little record behind in the place he started from. And I want to find it, wherever it is."

"But about tomorrow night—" "Yes, that's what we've got to plan for, now. Have you got a costume?"

"No, but trust me to get one. There must be shops here—costume shops who furnish the society crowd with fancy dress. I'll go as the Empress of All the Russias or Cleopatra or somebody addicted to wearing quarts of jewels, so that it will seem quite natural to trot the necklace out and show it off."

Bowen nodded. "That's the girl." "And look—what do you think of this? I'll tell everyone it's just a bauble from the five and ten and I'll be just a poor enough liar that they'll know I'm lying. It will make people twice as sure it's the real thing, if I protest a lot and swear it isn't—"

Bowen nodded, approvingly. "Don't over-act, now, Juliet," he added. "Take it easy. Just a shade too much fuss over it, and De Loma will be afraid to touch it. He's cagey as the deuce, remember. Just because he seems to be eating out of your hand, don't think he's asleep. . . . just that little coincidence of his acquaintance with your friend Louise is what's responsible for his walking right up to the gun, like that. Her being there lulled his suspicions, or he might have lighted it out of sight the minute he saw you in the hotel."

"Well, that's something to thank Louise for, at any rate," Mary admitted grudgingly. "Otherwise, she's a blot. Bates thinks she's a crook. He's forgotten all about The Fly. Too busy trying to trip her up into making some sort of admission that will show him what her real game is."

"Oh, well, Louise is none of our affair. Bruce will give her the boot when he gets his land-legs and looks around this country a bit. . . . some of these bathing beauties ought to make him drop his easel and run. . . ."

"That reminds me," Mary interrupted. "I'm supposed to wangle a picture of her somehow—for Bates to carry next his heart, I think, though he says it's to send home to the New York police department. For a man who thinks he's out with the reincarnation of Catherine de Medici and the Borgias family, he's having a better time than any college sophomore I know!"

For a man who thinks he's out with the reincarnation of Catherine de Medici and the Borgias family, he's having a better time than any college sophomore I know!"

"Say!" Bowen was struck with an idea. "I've got a friend on the paper down here—frankly, he's been putting me up since I cut loose from the payroll and came down here. He has one of these cameras you hide in your pocket, and shoot when nobody knows it. If we could smuggle it in tomorrow night. . . ."

"Bring it yourself!" Mary cried delightedly.

BOWEN bent on her a look of unutterable reproach.

"Am I one of the idle rich?" He threw out his hands. "I hitch-hiked to this village, my dear lady, and I did not have a swallow-tail tied up in the handkerchief that served me as a trunk. Just a bobo, that's me. A darling of the gods like you can't realize what it is to be broke, I know—"

Mary put out her hand in quick sympathy. "I can realize you've done all this for me," she said. Like a flash she opened the bag she carried and took out a roll of bills which she thrust toward him.

"Hey! Hey! Put that back!" Bowen growled at her, turning scarlet. He tossed the money roughly into her lap. "I'm not whining. I'm having a swell time—honest! I'll probably get a job here on the same paper my friend's on, and stay a while. One week's pay and I'll be sitting on top the world. Swimming every morning before breakfast—swimming every night before I go to bed! Say! Why does anybody live in New York, anyway? No, I only meant to explain that $10 a plate is a little too steep a charge for little George just now, even if I had the duds to go with it. I didn't want you to think I was faking out at the last minute, though."

Mary sighed. "You ought to let me stake you," she insisted, gently. "Forget it, Bowen ordered curtly. "We'll get the picture. I'll wait in the street till you and the others come out. You tip me off which one is her, and bang! We'll snap her! Her picture that way. And we'll do it tomorrow."

They left it at that for the present. Mary felt that she must get back before her absence was discovered. She was resolved Bowen should come to the party, anyhow. His presence would steady her. He promised to telephone her next day and hear what final arrangements had been made for the Fly's reception on board the "Gypsy"—if he could be lured aboard.

Back in the Ambassador lobby she turned aside for a minute at the magazine stand. If any of her party should meet her in the upper halls she had decided to say she had been unable to sleep and had gone down to buy something to read.

Town Tattle lay nearest her hand, but she drew away from it as if it would have burned her. Whatever shameful secrets it had to reveal, she didn't want to know them. And none of the lurid detective story magazines that hung before her seemed to offer anything half so exciting as her own life was proving. In the end, she bought a newspaper only, and stood a moment, holding it wide open before her at the society page.

Suddenly the smooth flow of a familiar voice made her lift her head with a start. Cautiously she lowered the paper and looked over its edge. Not ten feet away, with their backs toward her, the Countess and De Loma sat close together on a mulberry velvet lounge, deep in low-voiced conversation.

PAVING EXPERIMENT IS BEING STUDIED

U. S. AND MINNESOTA ROAD BUREAU COOPERATE IN RESEARCH TO IMPROVE CONCRETE

The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads and the Minnesota Highway department have been cooperating the past summer in an experimental paving project which is attracting wide attention among highway engineers. Instead of using only three materials, cement, sand, and rock or gravel, as standard concrete methods, the rock and gravel have been separated into two and in some cases three different sizes, and fixed amounts of each size weighed into each batch of concrete.

This method has been tried in some other states, and has been advocated by the Bureau of Public Roads. To determine if this was of any value decided to try it on one project. A section of Minnesota materials, it was decided to try it on one project. A section of Minnesota materials, it was decided to try it on one project. A section of Minnesota materials, it was decided to try it on one project.

Three engineers from the Bureau of Public Roads spent the summer on this job, cooperating with special engineers from the State Highway department in directing the experiments and compiling data. The project was divided into several sections, different combinations of larger and smaller sizes of various kinds of rock and gravel being used. Records were kept of the amount of material used and the area of pavement laid per batch of concrete. Test specimens of concrete were made, and these are being checked with cores cut from the finished pavement.

Analysis of the data has not been completed, but the preliminary studies indicate that by keeping closer check of the coarse aggregate, the workability and uniformity of the concrete can be improved, and the quantity of cement slightly reduced. Whether this will be sufficient to justify the added cost remains to be seen. With the new method the practice would be to make a determination of cement proportions on each project, after making laboratory tests of the coarse aggregate, instead of using a fixed

BUY BENEFIT SHOW TICKETS NOW--

Less than a week remains before the benefit show sponsored by the Paramount theater for the benefit of the Brainerd Community Relief fund but the thermometer registering the ticket sale has not shown any unusual activity as yet. True, hundreds of tickets are in the hands of persons who are doing their bit toward aiding the good cause by selling them. But, they themselves are helpless if the public does not answer the challenge to relieve the distressed and suffering by purchasing tickets for the benefit.

Every cent raised through the benefit show will be turned over to the Brainerd Community Relief fund. The Paramount theater has purchased the picture. It is also providing additional vaudeville acts and its entire facilities together with the time of its employees are being donated to the worthy cause. Surely, if this institution can sacrifice an entire box office revenue to aid the needy we can but offer our assistance by buying tickets.

Success of the benefit show will relieve the actual drive for funds of the strain of the necessity of raising hundreds of dollars more. And, a splendid evening's entertainment is assured at the benefit by the excellent bill arranged.

To the new president of the Crow Wing county 4-H clubs, Miss Betty Wahl, Ironton, The Daily Dispatch wishes to extend its greetings. Miss Wahl has a busy year ahead of her but the faith and confidence shown in her by the individual units in naming her to preside over its functions is, we believe, fully justified. We would again like to express our sincere wish for a highly successful year for Miss Wahl and to pledge our every co-operation in an effort to aid her in all undertakings.

HEED THE STOP SIGNS--

Necessity of traffic laws and regulations governing the operation of a motor vehicle cannot be emphasized too much. They are vitally necessary but, after all, if they are not heeded there seems to be little use for them.

One of the most flagrant of the regulations violated is that of running a stop sign. True, the stop and go signal at the corner of Laurel and Sixth street is well observed and wherever a policeman is in evidence usually the practice of running a stop sign is temporarily abandoned.

But, the police, with a limited force as it is, cannot watch every stop sign. Neither should they as it should be the sense of every motor car driver to make it his duty to observe not only the "stop" buttons but every traffic law.

A few stiff fines meted out in the course of second offenses, or even the first time for that matter, may curb this dangerous practice which, observers declare, has become quite flagrant in the residential sections.

News dispatches tell us that Ely Culbertson and Sidney Lenz, bridge "sharks" in every sense of the word, have contracted for a match. Along with the trend of the times and, naturally, shunning the possibility of any fatality in such a famous match, we wonder whether both will be "frisked" before hostilities begin.

GIVE TO BANISH NEED--

The pitiful little 13-year-old who was rescued from the windowless Washington closet where her father and stepmother had confined her seems to have attracted the kindly attention of most of the nation. Endless columns have been printed about her. We have been told in detail how she has been introduced to the joys of sunlight, toys and good food, and we have been guilty of a good deal of sentimentality concerning her.

News events like the one that has built itself up around her are not entirely good for us. They stir our sympathies, to be sure, and they help us to realize how black and dismal a child's life can be made. But they divert our minds from the real issue.

This youngster's situation was exceptional—in one sense. There are not, luckily, many children situated precisely as she was. But there are hundreds of thousands of children in the United States who do not, on the whole, have things so very much better than she had them; and when we expand our sympathetic energies on her we have none left over for the rest, and it is hard for anyone to arouse our interest in them.

Ask any social service worker to tell you about the way some children have to live in our biggest cities. Get some mine union representative to tell you about the lot of children in some of the nation's coal towns. Go to one or another of the innumerable homes in which the bread-winner has not had a job for a year or more and see how the children get along there.

Then, when you have done that, see if this pathetically unlucky little girl in Washington was really much worse off than thousands upon thousands of her brothers and sisters.

We don't ordinarily bother our heads much about these other children. We would rather pour out our moral indignation over individual cases that get on the front pages. This little girl lived in the dark, she had poor food, she had no toys. Well, there are many others like her—only we don't hear about them.

From one end of the country to the other, about now, charitable organizations are appealing for money. If the case of this Washington youngster oppressed you—just remember, when you have a chance to contribute to one of these fund campaigns, that your money will be helping some other children who are not much better off than she was.

THE NAVY SQUABBLE--

It is hardly surprising that the committee chosen by President Hoover to pass on the "abysmal ignorance" charges of the head of the Navy League should have turned in a report upholding the president. The charges voiced by the Navy League's president were wild, on their face; that the gentleman was speaking out of turn could be deduced as soon as his statement was read.

Indeed, now that the smoke of battle has died away, it is possible to wonder whether President Hoover needed to take any notice of the accusation in the first place. A propaganda organization is expected to attack any public official who does things of which it does not approve, and most people pay very little attention. That it would have been so in this case is hardly to be doubted. At any rate, the issue seems to be settled now, and it is obvious that the head of the Navy League has not greatly added to his reputation.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
MARY HARKNESS plots to catch THE FLY, who she believes "framed" her brother, EDDIE, with the murder of old MRS. W. PETER, and later ran Eddie down and killed him to keep him from talking.

She is aided by BOWEN of the Stars, Mary's fiancé, DIK RUY-THER, and his family object to the notoriety. They believe Eddie guilty, as do the police. The case is dropped.

BRUCE JUPITER, absent many years, returns from Europe with a woman friend. His father orders him out and makes Mary his heir. Bruce swears to ruin Mary, who he thinks is a gold-digger.

Dark forbids Mary to continue the investigation, refusing to believe in the existence of The Fly. He tells Mary that people are repeating Bruce's charges and says if she goes to Miami on the Jupiter yacht, as she plans, he will also believe them.

Mary goes, seeking The Fly, whose horse is running at HIRSHBACH, soon Dirk shows attention to his former sweetheart, CORNELIA TAYLOR, who is trying to win him back. In Miami Mary meets COUNT DE LOMA. De Loma is the name of the owner of The Fly's horse. She promises to dance with him at a hotel fete.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXX

"NICE chap," Bates remarked dryly, as De Loma departed. "What is he—Frenchman?" His bland gaze rested on Louise, who pretended not to have heard.

"Must we stay longer?" she appealed to Bruce, pouting. She put the gleaming carmine tips of two fingers on each temple. "My head—I must lie down."

Bruce paid the check. As Mary expected, the Countess made no further mention of her race track winnings. They might be the inspiration of the feast but they would never pay for it. She had been sure of that all along.

In the elevator, Bruce made some low-voiced plea which Mary did not catch, but it was refused with further protestations of illness. Bruce urged. The Countess' wail arose: "But it is impossible! I am miserable. You do not know—tomorrow I will look at all the shorelines you wish to show me. Tonight, no."

Mary bade them all good night at the door of her room. Mr. Jupiter responded with a grunt—he was half asleep already, as the result of too much fresh air and too much food. He would not be curious about her comings and goings if she chose to steal out now and meet Bowen. The Countess would not be leaving her pillow, if her protestations of suffering were genuine. And Bruce would be dancing attendance upon his dear Louise, unless he had really forsaken the role of lap-dog. Mary doubted that.

The coast was clear. Mary put on dark, inconspicuous clothes and hurried out to the rendezvous with Bowen. The Laurel Tearoom was a small, stuffy affair with a row of high-backed benches forming booths along one side. In the first of these, peering out worriedly, she saw him—and fell into the seat opposite with a gasp of relief. The wing of the chair hid her face from others in the room. She felt as if she had reached sanctuary.

Bowen looked at his wrist watch and raised eloquent eyes to the ceiling. "If I were married to you," he said, "I'd cut your heart out. Where've you been for the last three hours? Look it." He pointed to the disorderly array of teacups, each with its wheel of yellow lemon and sodden teaball, that surrounded him in a semi-circle—and at the glass ash tray, filled and overflowing with twisted butts of defunct cigarettes.

"I don't even like tea," he complained bitterly, "but it's all you can get in this place. And I had to make an attempt to drink the stuff or get thrown out of here. Where in the eternal interest of accuracy have you been?"

"With De Loma," Mary managed to gasp, her breath still short from running.

That sobered him. "De Loma! For God's sake! Where did you pick him up?"

MARY told him as coherently as she could, and at the finish sprung her even more startling news—that she had an engagement to meet him at the fete the following night.

"Listen, girl," Bowen said slowly and solemnly when she had finished. "We've got to go into a huddle over this, and not mull anything. We've had the breaks so far. If Lady Luck will just be with us a little longer, De Loma is the man who we need."

"No, I'm afraid to tell Bruce. I don't know him well enough to know whether he could be trusted to help us play the game or not. He might snatch a gun and go looking for De Loma, but that's not what we want. Mr. Jupiter must know—but I haven't had a chance to tell him yet. I rushed right off to meet you."

"You and the tortoise," commented Bowen. "Well, let's think, if it kills us. Have you got the necklace here?"

Mary hesitated only a second before replying, "Yes." She had lost the complete trust she had once given to everyone. Dirk had planted the germ of distrust thoroughly; hereafter, she would be frank, with reservations, even with Bowen.

"What kind of blow-out is that tomorrow night?" Bowen asked, with wrinkled brow. "What is a fete, anyhow? Fancy dress?"

"I haven't the least idea what the Ambassador's notion of a fete would be," Mary returned. "I imagine it's going to be one of those ghastly affairs where society dowagers go about wearing paper hats and sucking lollipops. Why?"

"I was thinking about your costume. Will you have a chance to wear the necklace?"

"Do you think I'd better—so soon?"

"Well, I've only just met him tonight. Wouldn't he think I was too trustful?"

"You'll have your party with you, won't you? What's trustful about that?"

"That's true. Well—"

"What's the matter? Scared?"

"Not exactly." She gulped. "He's—horrible, though. He gives me shivers when he looks at me."

A shudder passed over her. "But if I must, I must. That's what I came here for."

"The sooner the better," Bowen advised. "The Ambassador won't put him up rent free much longer. They're wise to his kind. He was probably counting on that pony of his to recoup his finances. What a winning that would have been! He's probably spent all he got from the diamond rings and the bracelet he took from Mrs. Jupiter. If he has let go of them at all. He may be keeping them still, afraid to turn them over to a fence for fear of being double-crossed. Well, maybe they'll come in handy to pay his board-bill with—diamonds are swell security."

So that was what the dark little man was summoning De Loma about! A reckoning of his bill.

"But here's something I don't understand," Mary told him. "De Loma and the Countess are old friends. Do you suppose she could be an accomplice? She's been running around Europe with Bruce for two or three years—I've gathered that from their talk of different places they'd seen together. And The Fly has been busy right here in this country, for several years, you told me. Before that he claims to have come from South America. He looks Spanish enough. At least, he looks like Spaniards do in the movies—I don't know that I've ever seen a real one. He has those funny side-burns and he's brown enough, goodness knows—"

"You don't have to go any farther than Rockaway to get a swell tan," Bowen reminded her. "I'm still digging away at his past—been putting in my spare time here going through the police morgue. I haven't set eyes on anyone yet that looks like him, but I haven't given up hope."

He picked up that Spanish lingo somewhere, so why not in this part of the country? He may have come up from Cuba, or some of those other islands. They're full of polyglot Spaniards—usually about one-third Spanish blood and two-thirds what-have-you. Not that it matters a damn if he's an Eskimo, but I've got a hunch that he left a nice little record behind in the place he started from. And I want to find it, wherever it is."

"But about tomorrow night—"

"Yes, that's what we've got to plan for, now. Have you got a costume?"

"No, but trust me to get one. There must be shops here—costume shops who furnish the society crowd with fancy dresses. I'll go as the Empress of All the Russias or Cleopatra or somebody addicted to wearing quarts of jewels, so that it will seem quite natural to trot the necklace out and show it off."

Bowen nodded. "That's the girl."

"And look—what do you think of this? I'll tell everyone it's just a bauble from the five and ten and I'll be just a poor enough liar that they'll know I'm lying. It will make people twice as sure it's the real thing, if I protest a lot and swear it isn't."

Bowen nodded, approvingly. "Don't over-act, now, Juliet," he added. "Take it easy. Just a shade too much fuss over it, and De Loma will be afraid to touch it. He's cagey as the deuce, remember. Just because he seems to be eating out of your hand, don't think he's asleep."

... just that little coincidence of his acquaintance with your friend Louise is what's responsible for his walking right up to the gun, like that. Her being there lulled his suspicions, or he might have hightailed it out of sight the minute he saw you in the hotel."

"Well, that's something to thank Louise for, at any rate," Mary admitted grudgingly. "Otherwise, she's a blot. Bates thinks she's a crook. He's forgotten all about The Fly. Too busy trying to trip her up into making some sort of admission that will show him what her real game is."

"Oh, well, Louise is none of our affair. Bruce will give her the boot when he gets his land-legs and looks around this country a bit. He's some of these bathing beauties ought to make him drop his easel and run."

"That reminds me," Mary interrupted. "I'm supposed to wangle a picture of her somehow—for Bates to carry next his heart, I think, though he says it's to send home to the New York police department. For a man who thinks he's out with the reincarnation of Catherine de Medici and the Borgias family, he's having a better time than any college sophomore I know!"

"Say!" Bowen was struck with an idea. "I've got a friend on the paper down here—frankly, he's been putting me up since I cut loose from the payroll and came down here. He has one of these cameras you hide in your pocket, and shoot when nobody knows it. If we could smuggle it in tomorrow night..."

"Bring it yourself!" Mary cried delightedly.

BOWEN bent on her a look of unutterable reproof.

"Am I one of the idle rich?" He threw out his hands. "I hitchhiked to this village, my dear lady, and I did not have a swallow-tail tied up in the handkerchief that served me as a trunk. Just a hobo, that's me. A darling of the gods like you can't realize what it is to be broke, I know—"

Mary put out her hand in quick sympathy. "I can realize you've done all this for me," she said. Like a flash she opened the bag she carried and took out a roll of bills which she thrust toward him.

"Hey! Hey! Put that back!" Bowen growled at her, turning scarlet. He tossed the money roughly into her lap. "I'm not whining. I'm having a swell time—honest! I'll probably get a job here on the same paper my friend's on, and stay a while. One week's pay and I'll be sitting on top of the world. Swimming every morning before breakfast—swimming every night before I go to bed! Say! Why does anybody live in New York, anyway? No, I only meant to explain that $10 a plate is a little too steep a cover charge for little George just now, even if I had the duds to go with it. I didn't want you to think I was tinking out at the last minute, though."

Mary sighed. "You ought to let me stake you," she insisted, gently. "Forget it, Bowen ordered curtly. "We'll get the picture. I'll wait in the street till you and the others come out. You tip me off which one is her, and bring! We'll snap Her Highness' picture that way. And we'll do it tomorrow."

They left it at that for the present. Mary felt that she must get back before her absence was discovered. She was resolved Bowen should come to the party, anyhow. His presence would steady her. He promised to telephone her next day and hear what final arrangements had been made for the Fly's reception on board the "Gypsy"—if he could be lured aboard.

Back in the Ambassador lobby she turned aside for a minute at the magazine stand. If any of her party should meet her in the upper halls she had decided to say she had been unable to sleep and had gone down to buy something to read.

Town Tattle lay nearest her hand, but she drew away from it as if it would have burned her. What- ever shameful secrets it had to reveal, she didn't want to know them. And none of the lurid detective story magazines that hung before her seemed to offer anything half so exciting as her own life was proving. In the end, she bought a newspaper only, and stood a moment, holding it wide open before her at the society page.

Suddenly the smooth flow of a familiar voice made her lift her head with a start. Cautiously she lowered the paper and looked over its edge. Not ten feet away, with their backs toward her, the Countess and De Loma sat close together on a mulberry velvet lounge, deep in low-voiced conversation.

PAVING EXPERIMENT IS BEING STUDIED

U. S. AND MINNESOTA ROAD BUREAUS COOPERATE IN RESEARCH TO IMPROVE CONCRETE

The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads and the Minnesota Highway department have been cooperating the past summer in an experimental paving project which is attracting wide attention among highway engineers. Instead of using only three materials, cement, sand, and rock or gravel, as in standard concrete methods, the rock and gravel have been separated into two and in some cases three different sizes, and fixed amounts of each size weighed into each batch of concrete.

This method has been tried in some other states, and has been advocated by the Bureau of Public Roads. To determine if this was of any value aided to try it on one project. A section of T. H. No. 14, from Redwood Falls to Fairfax was selected for the experiment, due to the variety of rock and gravel available.

Three engineers from the Bureau of Public Roads spent the summer on this job, cooperating with special engineers from the State Highway department in directing the experiments and compiling data. The project was divided into several sections, different combinations of larger and smaller sizes of various kinds of rock and gravel being used. Turkey Goes to Roost on High Tension Wire, Electrocuted, Power Hit

It was only a turkey seeking to escape the Thanksgiving axe, but for a time Saturday afternoon it tied up the electric wires in the entire Staples community. A farmer brought in some live turkeys for sale, and in making the delivery two escaped, and took shelter on the roof of the power house. There they were resting in perfect peace. Thinking to drive them off the roof, a Stapleite began throwing some pebbles at the roosting turkey, and apparently his aim was good, for the turkey decided to seek higher quarters, and went to roost on the cross pieces of a pole carrying a high tension wire.

In seeking this vantage point, the turkey came in contact with the wire, there was a report that could be heard a block away, the switch was thrown out at Pillager dam power house, and the turkey dropped to the ground dead. The power company was about to send out a crew to look for the break, when word was telephoned as to its cause.

ATTACK ON WOLVERINES MAY BE MINUS MACDOUGAL'S HELP

STUBBORN INJURY MAY KEEP FLEET STAR ON SIDELINE

TACKLE WELLS AND CENTER OEN, HOWEVER, ARE EXPECTED TO BE READY

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Kenneth MacDougall, Minnesota's mid-gate back, may not be able to play against Michigan Saturday because of an injured knee. Tackle Wells and Center Oen, however, are expected to be ready for the Wolverines.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 7.—(UP)—The plays Michigan planned to use last week against Michigan State, and did not attempt because of the weather conditions, will be used against Minnesota Saturday. With more than 50,000 tickets sold, a crowd of 70,000 is expected to see the game.

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Northwestern will take no chances against Iowa Saturday, Coach Dick Hanley said today when he announced he planned to start his strongest lineup. The Wildcats were given a rest yesterday, Hanley fearing they might go stale by too much work this week.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Two Purdue backs, Roy Horstman and Roke Moore, may be unable to play against Indiana Saturday because of injuries. Horstman has an injured elbow and Moore a twisted ankle.

Columbus, O., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Carl Cramer, Ohio State quarterback, who is nursing an injured hip, will be in shape to play against Illinois Saturday, Trainer Smith said today. Guard Joe Gallus, injured in the Navy game, will be back in the lineup this week. The Ohio State team was given a holiday yesterday while Coach Sam Willman went squirrel hunting.

GARDEN MUST EQUAL SCHMELING OFFER

JACOBS CLAIMS HE ALREADY HAS $200,000 OFFER

New York, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Joe Jacobs, manager of Heavyweight Champion Max Schmeling, has told Madison Square Garden officials the champion has an offer of $200,000 for a bout with Mickey Walker and unless the Garden duplicates this he will not agree to his proposal to match the two at Los Angeles in February.

Definite announcement on details of the Los Angeles bout are expected in a few days. Jacobs and William F. Carey of the Garden are said to be agreed on the Olympic Coliseum as the site, George Blake of Los Angeles as the referee, and the length of the bout—12 rounds, no decision, under the arrangement permitted in California.

Jacobs announced tentative plans for a tour of the country by Schmeling on his arrival next month. The German, accompanied by two sparring partners, plans to launch a series of exhibitions in Boston Dec. 14, concluding Jan. 16 at Oakland, Calif.

See Three-Cornered Race for A. A. Post

Chicago, Nov. 17.—(UP)—A three-cornered battle for the presidency of the American association was forecast today as the club owners gathered for their annual meeting. The candidates were expected to be T. J. Hickey, president office holder, George Belden, president of the Minneapolis club, and William E. Clauer, former secretary of the Indianapolis club. Hickey helped organize the American association and has been president for the past 15 years.

Trojans Diminutive Quarterback Key Man Against Notre Dame

Gopher Captain in Action

CLARENCE MUNN

Here is "Minnesota's quadruple threat" in three striking demonstrations of his versatility. Against Michigan will be Munn's second last appearance of his college career and he is expected to shoulder a goodly portion of the Gophers' attack against the wily Wolverines at Ann Arbor Saturday.

165-POUND REGULAR IS SPARK PLUG IN CALIFORNIA ATTACK

STOPPED FIRST TIME LAST YEAR BY IISH, FANS HOPE HE WILL GET REVENGE

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Two important changes may be made in the Notre Dame lineup for Saturday's game with Southern California, Coach Hearty Anderson indicated in yesterday's workout.

Alvin Culver, regular left tackle last year, replaced Ed Kruse, stalwart sophomore, and Hugh DeVore, called the most vicious tackler on the squad, took Dick Mahony's place at right end.

Steve Bannas was at fullback yesterday in place of George Melnikovich, whose injured shoulder and numerous bruises, are expected to keep him out of action until the Army game.

Los Angeles, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Southern California usually goes as Orville Mohler goes so all Trojan supporters are praying that the elusive quarterback will be good Saturday. On his slight shoulders, at 165 pounds he is the highest Southern California regular, rest the hopes of a Trojan victory over Notre Dame at South Bend.

Mohler was stopped for the first time last year when Notre Dame came here and defeated U. S. C. 27 to 0. He was stopped once this year, by St. Mary's of Moraga, and St. Mary's beat his team 13 to 7.

In all other games the shifty ball carrier was the spark plug that led Southern California to scores and victories.

His most unusual performance this year was against Oregon university, conqueror of N. Y. U. Mohler went into the game at the end of the first quarter when Southern California was leading only 7 to 0.

The first time Mohler touched the ball he went off tackle, eluded two Oregon backfield men and outran the rest 48 yards to a touchdown.

Mohler touched the ball for the second time when he intercepted an Oregon pass on his own 43 yard line and ran 57 yards to a touchdown.

Three plays later he handled the ball for the third time. In this instance he passed to Sparling for a touchdown.

Three times he handled the ball and three touchdowns resulted. Coach Howard Jones then removed him.

Thirty-four Trojans will make the trip to South Bend. Brief stops for workouts will be made at Tucson, Ariz., Wednesday morning, and at Hutchinson, Kans., Thursday afternoon. The train will reach Chicago at 9:15 a. m. Friday, and the Trojans will go directly to Stagg Field for a practice session, then to their hotel. They will move on to South Bend Saturday morning.

Natural Rivals to Meet When Police Gridders Clash With Sing Sing's Black and White Crew

Ossining, N. Y., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Natural rivals will meet on the football field at Sing Sing Sunday when the Black and White eleven from the Big House meets the newly formed Port Jervis, N. Y., police department team.

The Port Jervis challenge was received by Warden Lewis E. Lawes just as he had about reached a decision to curb "over-emphasis" on football at his institution by eliminating some manifestations of the college spirit last Sunday when Sing Sing beat the Naval Militia 33 to 0.

Newspapers and newsreel photographers, a prison band, a black and white striped painted pony mascot, gave the old prison yard the collegiate atmosphere despite machine gun guards posted on the walls.

News of the scheduled game broadcast over the prison radio network was received with restrained delight by the inmates. They believe "Alabama" Pitts and his huskies can wreck any equal number of police.

OLSON TO SPEED CYCLISTS ON WAY IN BICYCLE RACE

SIX-DAY EVENT WILL FORMALLY INTRODUCE SPORT IN THE NORTHWEST

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 17.—(UP)—When Governor Floyd B. Olson fires the starter's gun at 9 p. m. tonight six-day bicycle racing will be formally introduced to the northwest with 20 riders representing 12 countries taking part.

Ten teams will be represented on the track. Sprints during which each rider pedals as fast as he is able for 15 minutes will be in order at 12:45 p. m., 3 p. m., 4:40 p. m., 9 p. m. and 2 a. m. each day. The race will continue until Monday, Nov. 23.

William "Torchy" Peden of Vancouver and his partner, Roy Moebeck, formerly of Minneapolis, were installed as favorites to pile up the most laps by midnight Nov. 23. Peden shattered all previous speed marks on a bicycle last week when he pedaled his cycle at 81 miles an hour to set a new world's record for the mile. The record was made behind a windbreak on an automobile.

Peden, who represented Canada in the last Olympics, weighs more than 220 pounds.

Hornsby, Veeck to Lay Plans for Season

Chicago, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Rogers Hornsby, Chicago Cubs' manager, will be here next week to discuss plans for several trades. President William Veeck announced today. Veeck returned from his vacation in the east yesterday. Disposition of Hack Wilson and Pat Malone is one of the most important Cubs' matters to come up this winter.

Kind-Hearted

London.—Obviously, Charles A. T. Pridoux had a soft spot in his heart for animals and shellfish. He willed certain legacies to his wife, on condition that she would never eat fowl, fish, crab, crayfish, prawn, lobster, shrimp, eel, or "any shell or other animal or creature" without absolute proof of its humane killing or death before cooking. He also requested that she should never wear any feathers, skin or part of any bird or animal. His wife, however, predeceased him.

$12000 POURED INTO CHARITY COFFERS BY N. W. BENEFIT GAMES

St. Paul, Nov. 17.—(UP)—High school and college football games for charity have benefited relief funds throughout the northwest more than $12,000 already this year, a United Press survey revealed today.

The University of Minnesota's charity game in the Memorial stadium in Minneapolis with Ohio State a week from Saturday is expected to add approximately $50,000 to the state unemployment relief funds.

Sale of advertising on programs added to the gate receipts made the Itasca Junior College-Northland College game the largest contributor to date with $5,000. The game was played at Ashland, Wis.

The St. Mary's-St. Thomas game at Winona drew attendance that afforded $1,624 to the Winona relief fund while Fargo and Devils Lake played a charity game that brought in another $1,000.

The Moorhead State Teachers College game with the North Dakota university freshman netted $200. High school games for charity included the following schools and sums: St. Cloud vs. Aitkin at St. Cloud, $500; Lake City vs. Red Wing at Lake City, $500; Alumnus-Hibbing, $55; Somerset, Wis. vs. Stillwater, $450; Glenwood vs. Alexandria, $450; Thief River Falls vs. Moorhead High, $450; Minot Teachers vs. Alumnus, $400; Fargo vs. Minot, $150.

TACKLE WELLS AND CENTER OEN, HOWEVER, ARE EXPECTED TO BE READY

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Kenneth MacDougall, Minnesota's mid-field back, may not be able to play against Michigan Saturday because of an injured knee. Tackle Wells and Center Oen, however, are expected to be ready for the Wolverines.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 7.—(UP)—The plays Michigan planned to use last week against Minnesota State, and did not attempt because of the weather conditions, will be used against Minnesota Saturday. With more than 50,000 tickets sold, a crowd of 70,000 is expected to see the game.

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Northwestern will take no chances against Iowa Saturday. Coach Dick Hanley said today when he announced he planned to start his strongest lineup. The Wildcats were given a rest yesterday, Hanley fearing they might go stale by too much work this week.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Two Purdue backs, Roy Horstman and Roxie Moore, may be unable to play against Indiana Saturday because of injuries. Horstman has an injured elbow and Moore a twisted ankle.

Columbus, O., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Carl Cramer, Ohio State quarterback, who is nursing an injured hip, will be in shape to play against Illinois Saturday. Trainer Smith said today. Guard Joe Gallus, injured in the Navy game, will be back in the lineup this week. The Ohio State team was given a holiday yesterday while Coach Sam Willaman went squirrel hunting.

GARDEN MUST EQUAL SCHMELING OFFER

JACOBS CLAIMS HE ALREADY HAS $200,000 OFFER

New York, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Joe Jacobs, manager of Heavyweight Champion Max Schmeling, has told Madison Square Garden officials the champion has an offer of $200,000 for a bout with Mickey Walker and unless the Garden duplicates this he will not agree to its proposal to match the two at Los Angeles in February.

Definite announcement on details of the Los Angeles bout are expected in a few days. Jacobs and William F. Carey of the Garden are said to be agreed on the Olympic Coliseum as the site, George Blake of Los Angeles as the referee, and the length of the bout—12 rounds, no decision, under the arrangement permitted in California.

Jacobs announced tentative plans for a tour of the country by Schmeling on his arrival next month. The German, accompanied by two sparring partners, plans to launch a series of exhibitions in Boston Dec. 14, concluding Jan. 16 at Oakland, Calif.

See Three-Cornered Race for A. A. Post

Chicago, Nov. 17.—(UP)—A three-cornered battle for the presidency of the American association was forecast today as the club owners gathered for their annual meeting. The candidates were expected to be T. J. Hickey, president of the American association, and George Belden, president of the Minneapolis club, and William E. Clauer, former secretary of the Indianapolis club. Hickey helped organize the American association and has been president for the past 15 years.

165-POUND REGULAR IS SPARK PLUG IN CALIFORNIA ATTACK

STOPPED FIRST TIME LAST YEAR
BY IRISH, FANS HOPE HE WILL GET REVENGE

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Two important changes may be made in the Notre Dame lineup for Saturday's game with Southern California. Coach Harty Anderson indicated in yesterday's workout.

Alvin Culver, regular left tackle last year, replaced Ed Kruse, stalwart sophomore, and Hugh DeVore, called the most vicious tackler on the squad, took Dick Mahony's place at right end.

Steve Banas was at fullback yesterday in place of George Melinkovich, whose injured shoulder and numerous bruises, are expected to keep him out of action until the Army game.

Los Angeles, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Southern California usually goes as Orville Mohler goes so all Trojan supporters are praying the elusive quarterback will be good Saturday. On his slight shoulders, at 165 pounds he is the lightest Southern California regular, rest the hopes of a Trojan victory over Notre Dame at South Bend.

Mohler was stopped for the first time last year when Notre Dame came here and defeated U. S. C. 27 to 0. He was stopped once this year, by St. Mary's of Moraga, and St. Mary's beat his team 13 to 7.

In all other games the shifty ball carrier was the spark plug that led Southern California to scores and victories.

His most unusual performance this year was against Oregon university conqueror of N. Y. U. Mohler went into the game at the end of the first quarter when Southern California was leading only 7 to 0.

The first time Mohler touched the ball he went off tackle, eluded two Oregon backfield men and outran the rest 48 yards to a touchdown.

Mohler touched the ball for the second time when he intercepted an Oregon pass on his own 43 yard line and ran 57 yards to a touchdown.

Three plays later he handled the ball for the third time. In this instance he passed to Sparling for a touchdown.

Three times he handled the ball and three touchdowns resulted. Coach Howard Jones then removed him.

Thirty-four Trojans will make the trip to South Bend. Brief stops for workouts will be made at Tucson, Ariz., Wednesday morning, and at Hutchinson, Kans., Thursday afternoon. The train will reach Chicago at 9:15 a. m. Friday, and the Trojans will go directly to Stagg Field for a practice session, then to their hotel. They will move on to South Bend Saturday morning.

Natural Rivals to Meet When Police Gridders Clash With Sing Sing's Black and White Crew

Ossining, N. Y., Nov. 17.—(UP)—Natural rivals will meet on the football field at Sing Sing Sunday when the Black and White eleven from the Big House meets the newly formed Port Jervis, N. Y., police department team.

The Port Jervis challenge was received by Warden Lewis E. Lawes just as he had about reached a decision to curb "over-emphasis" on football at his institution by eliminating some manifestations of the college spirit last Sunday when Sing Sing beat the Naval Militia 33 to 0.

Newspapers and newsreel photographers, a prison band, a black and white striped painted pony mascot, gave the old prison yard the collegiate atmosphere despite machine gun guards posted on the walls.

News of the scheduled game broadcast over the prison radio network was received with restrained delight by the inmates. They believe "Alabama" Pitts and his huskies can wreck any equal number of police.

OLSON TO SPEED CYCLISTS ON WAY IN BICYCLE RACE

SIX-DAY EVENT WILL FORMALLY INTRODUCE SPORT IN THE NORTHWEST

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 17.—(UP)—When Governor Floyd B. Olson fires the starter's gun at 9 p. m. tonight six-day bicycle racing will be formally introduced to the northwest with 20 riders representing 12 countries taking part.

Ten teams will be represented on the track. Sprints during which each rider pedals as fast as he is able for 15 minutes will be in order at 12:45 p. m., 3 p. m., 4:40 p. m., 9 p. m. and 2 a. m. each day. The race will continue until Monday, Nov. 23.

William "Torchy" Peden of Vancouver and his partner, Roy Moebeck, formerly of Minneapolis, were installed as favorites to pile up the most laps by midnight Nov. 23. Peden shattered all previous speed marks on a bicycle last week when he pedaled his cycle at 81 miles an hour to set a new world's record for the mile. The record was made behind a windbreak on an automobile.

Peden, who represented Canada in the last Olympics, weighs more than 220 pounds.

Hornsby, Veeck to Lay Plans for Season

Chicago, Nov. 17.—(UP)—Rogers Hornsby, Chicago Cubs' manager, will be here next week to discuss plans for several trades, President William Veeck announced today. Veeck returned from his vacation in the east yesterday. Disposition of Hack Wilson and Pat Malone is one of the most important Cubs' matters to come up this winter.

$12000 POURED INTO CHARITY COFFERS BY N. W. BENEFIT GAMES

St. Paul, Nov. 17.—(UP)—High school and college football games for charity have benefited relief funds throughout the northwest more than $12,000 already this year, a United Press survey revealed today.

The University of Minnesota's charity game in the Memorial stadium in Minneapolis with Ohio State a week from Saturday is expected to add approximately $50,000 to the state unemployment relief funds.

Sale of advertising on programs added to the gate receipts made the Itasca Junior College-Northland College game the largest contributor to date with $5,000. The game was played at Ashland, Wis.

The St. Mary's-St. Thomas game at Winona drew attendance that afforded $1,624 to the Winona relief fund while Fargo and Devils Lake played a charity game that brought in another $1,000.

The Moorhead State Teachers College game with the North Dakota university freshman netted $200. High school games for charity included the following schools and sums: St. Cloud vs. Aitkin at St. Cloud, $500; Lake City vs. Red Wing at Lake City, $500; Alumnus-Hibbing, $55; Somerset, Wis., vs. Stillwater, $450; Glenwood vs. Alexandria, $450; Thief River Falls vs. Moorhead High, $450; Minot Teachers vs. Alumni, $400; Fargo vs. Minot, $150.

MR. PAT CLIFF DELIVERS ARMISTICE
ADDRESS TO STUDENTS AND PUBLICCLIFF OUTLINES WORK OF THE AMERICAN LEGION

Wearing the new blue and white uniforms, the Pep band opened the Armistice Day program at 10:30 Wednesday morning. The audience joined in singing the first verse of the Star Spangled Banner.

Dr. Dammann announced the program. Harold Strickler summoned up the play "Mother Earth and Her Children," which signified the signing of the Armistice and announced the following students as taking part—Dorothy Opsahl as Mother Earth (Dorothy Opsahl as Peace), Harold Strickler as an Indian, Robert Crust as an American, and Wm. Stout as a retired British general, plead forth in vain for Peace, but could not win the fair maiden because they couldn't answer the questions put to them by her. Alfred Menz, as Utopia answers them, and Peace promises to marry him.

At 11 o'clock Rev. Valiant led in a short prayer. After which followed a silent moment of prayer.

The Girls' Glee club sang several selections. Marjorie Forsberg gave a reading. The orchestra played a medley of songs which were popular during the war.

County Attorney A. J. Sullivan introduced the main speaker, Patrick Cliff—who brought to the minds of his hearers the signing of the Armistice 13 years previous. He said that in 1919 a peace time organization was formed, called the Paris Caucus, which tends to build up citizenship and to carry on in the Veterans Bureau of Minnesota to a great effort helps the fatherless, childless, and widows; builds hospitals, makes laws, and has a bureau indowment fund. He also told of the many activities in which the Legion participated in such as public improvements, Boy Scout work, give scholarship and medals, erect play grounds and sponsor junior baseball. Mr. Cliff said in closing "Although celebrating an anniversary peace, the Legion does not believe in total disarmament; because every man should defend and protect his country, but this should be done in a manner such that no other country may become suspicious."

Brainerd High Concert
Band Receives Praises

The Brainerd high school concert band has received high praise for their performance during the last week. Wednesday the Lions club invited the band to play for them during their meeting and as a reward gave the organization tickets to the Paramount theatre for the evening performance.

Monday they were sent to Aitkin, again by the Lions club to play for a similar organization at that place. During Xmas vacation they have been asked to play over WCCO. The student body may feel justly proud of their band.

1. Things that never happen
 Are the things you never see
 Just for instance did you ever
 See Leo Turcotte climb a tree.

2. Wouldn't it seem queer to you
 Should you pass Dorothy Britton's locker
 And you should see little Dove Tug-

 Just about to sock her.

3. Wouldn't you be surprised
 When all the world's an icicle
 To look around to see a ways off
 Lyle Creger on a tricycle.

4. Though these things have not oc-

 What if they did tomorrow—
 Would you laugh or would you cry
 Would it be your joy or sorrow?

5. Though these things never happen
 Other queer things do—
 They are occurring right and left
 It leaves its mark on me or you.

 The bad ones, here and there
 There are also ways to bring those
 That are good with no despair.

Queen, the Wonder Bear,
Performs for Students

Last Thursday at 1:20 "Queen," the wonder bear made her personal appearance in the high school auditorium amidst the laughter of the school students.

Among the few stunts that Queen performed were to wrestle with her trainer, eat out of the trainer's mouth and sit up in a chair.

These stunts brought a hearty applause from the students who then went forth to their respective classes.

The various home rooms in the high school and the eighth grades are collecting money for the Red Cross. The total amount collected will be reported in next week's Brainerdian.

YE EDITOR

During the past week the Amen Red Cross has been staging their 21st annual membership drive. This organization is known to the world over for its great services during the frequent disasters of the earth and is always on hand to help the unfortunate.

The Red Cross will again be on duty during the coming winter in helping the poor and unemployed. We should all give to our fullest extent to this great organization of men and women so they may continue their helpful work throughout the world.

FOSTER SCORES TOUCHDOWNS;
FIRST BRAINERD C-I VICTORY IN FIVE YEARS

Countless grid fans feasted their eyes upon Coach Dammann's Warriors last Wednesday, when they engaged the C-I eleven in a titanic encounter that will be remembered as long as the Trojan War on the March of the Ten Thousand.

Five hundred fur coats, 750 gray felt hats, 400 brown felt hats, two bands, a rectangle of turf, an inflated leather spheroid and eleven players constituted the material with which the Dammann-Taylor prodigies downed their ancient rivals by a 12-7 score.

Let us give a salute to Coach Wm. Dammann and Coach Ben Taylor for producing such a grid team as could down strong squads from Wadena, Bemidji, Staples and Crosby-Ironton. He has produced, with admirable results, such an aerial attack as no team could solve. This is the first eleven in five years that has wound up with a .667.

Let us give a salute to Capt. Foster and Field Head Gabiou, who have on the gridiron controlled the team with remarkable ability and result. The running attack of Foster and the passing accuracy of the clever little quarterback has been a large factor in the victorious outcome of the '31 grid men.

Let us give a salute to the entire team which, though quite light, has brought glory to its alma mater. From Swanson to B. Wyle, G. Wyle to Coffey, Edstrom to Anderson, Garvey, Gabiou, Templeton, White, Foster, Corbin, Bedore, Koeck, McPherson, Englehart, all have all executed their parts to a state of perfection and may be considered the best line and backfield Brainerd has ever produced.

In the first period Crosby-Ironton plunged to Brainerd's 13 yard line, but lost that chance of scoring, in the form of a penalty. It was a 15 yard handicap for using hands on the offensive. Gabiou faded back and hurled a long, beautiful pass that B. Wyle scraped in and succeeded in carrying it to the 12 yard marker. The touchdown was made on another pass, Gabiou to Foster. The try for extra point was on a pass, and though it was caught, the receiver, B. Wyle, was out of the end zone. The score remained 6-0.

The first half was ended shortly after the following kickoff. After the invaders kicked off, Brainerd punted. The receiver fumbled and the local fellows recovered. Two first downs followed, the former White. Another pass was the means to chalk up Brainerd's last touchdown. It was again Gabiou to Foster. The attempted extra point failed when the ball hit the cross bar of the goal post.

A completed pass to Templeton was followed by a 15 and a 5 yard penalty. Two passes, Gabiou and Foster to Swanson, netted 30 and 15 yards respectively. The latter was annulled because of an offside offense which ended the quarter.

In the last quarter the local fellows came within one yard of a touchdown when Foster blocked a punt and received a pass from Gabiou. The ball was fumbled on the one yard line.

C-I completed three first downs, one on a 20 yard pass, and made a touchdown on two line plunges. A completed pass left the score 12-7.

The substitutions were: Bedore for Coffey; Coffey for Bedore; Bedore for Swanson and McPherson for Garvey.

Warrior Gridmen Give
Chorus Girl Program

One of the most unusual and effective programs of the year was given last Monday in the auditorium. Mr. Squier announced the program. The first and last number consisted of a very interesting dance by 11 popular chorus girls who later turned out to be the Brainerd Warriors.

After several modern dances accompanied them by one of their own at the piano the team formed the defense that not even the Iron range team could stop.

FOUR HUNDRED
ATTEND PEP FEST
AT LOCAL GRIDIRON

SCHOOL PARADE LED BY BRAINERD PEPS BAND

More than four hundred students participated in Bonfire Pep Fest held at the local gridiron last Tuesday evening. The students organized at the school at 7:30 and at 8 the grand march began. The parade led by the Pep band under B. Ellerton's directorship, filed down eighth street to Front, then over to Seventh and back to Laurel and over to Sixth where several cheers were given. The student body then advanced to Front and back to Eighth street, continuing their march to the gridiron. Arriving at the field the students surrounded the bonfire which had been built up and started by the "Hi-Y." After several cheers, Mr. Squier announced the surprise of the evening, an address from Mr. Dammann.

Mr. Dammann expressed his appreciation of such a large turnout and hoped that every one present would take the advantage of seeing the final game.

After several songs and cheers the band played "America" concluding the first outdoor Pep fest of the year.

DR. SAINSBURY TO SPEAK THURSDAYDR. SAINSBURY CONSIDERED
MOST INTERESTING SPEAKER
TO APPEAR IN AUDITORIUM

Thursday morning at 11:30 o'clock will bring back to the students of Brainerd high school one of the most interesting speakers who has ever appeared on the auditorium platform, Dr. Sainsbury.

Most of the student body will remember Dr. Sainsbury as that particularly humorous speaker who delivered the first graduation address to be given in the new high school to the class of '30.

Everybody is hoping that the unfortunate late appearance of the speaker that occurred at that time will not be repeated on this occasion. The subject on which Dr. Sainsbury will talk has not been announced, but everyone is confident that the topic will be one of intense interest to high school students and faculty.

Sidelights of
Soph's Candy Sale

Mr. Swanson: "No I don't eat candy and I don't think boys and girls should eat it neither—(We tried to argue—but to no avail)."

Mr. Taylor: "No I am not going to buy any—I don't think, even if it is good because I've gained too much already! (Maybe our candy would make him reduce)."

Ruby Fallquist: "Now girls don't sell my candy till the very last—I got awfully mushy."

Marion Newman: "Don't eat too much of mine!"

Alta Creger: "Isn't mine artistic?"

in Championship Tilt
